

Agricultural Valuation Records Checklist

Keep the property-tax history and land-use records together before a sale, transfer, or change in use.

THE SHORT ANSWER

In Texas, this is a special appraisal based on productivity value, not a blanket property-tax exemption.

01 APPRAISAL RECORDS

- ☐ Latest tax bill and county appraisal district account number
- ☐ Application, approval, notices, and current appraisal classification
- ☐ Productivity values, acreage breakdown, and any pending review

02 LAND-USE PROOF

- ☐ Grazing, farm, hunting, timber, or other land-use leases
- ☐ Livestock, harvest, input, or service receipts
- ☐ FSA, NRCS, wildlife-plan, map, photo, or annual activity records

03 CHANGES + QUESTIONS

- ☐ Acreage or principal-use changes and periods of inactivity
- ☐ Denied or pending applications and appraisal-district notices
- ☐ Potential change-of-use or rollback-tax questions
- ☐ Ownership changes, estate transfers, or planned divisions

TWO RECORDS THAT ARE OFTEN CONFUSED

The agricultural or open-space property-tax appraisal is handled by the county appraisal district. A Texas agricultural and timber sales-tax registration number is a separate Comptroller program. Keep records for each in the right file.

YOUR NEXT FOUR MOVES

1

Download the CAD account and notices

2

Gather recent land-use records

3

List changes or missing years

4

Confirm questions with the CAD or tax adviser
